

"Doing Its Bit"

By R. J. Littlefield

Assistant Superintendent, W. N. & P. Division

BOSTON AND MAINE freight car 62765 is only one cog in what we might call a huge distributing machine guided by thousands of Boston and Maine men and women.

A shipper in Buffalo, N. Y., had seventy-eight shipments for customers in Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts, and this car was loaded in that city July first for Nashua, N. H., where further distribution would be made. It contained shipments for 43 customers in Maine, 29 in New Hampshire and 6 in Massachusetts. These shipments went to 13 cities or towns in Maine, 22 in New Hampshire and 6 in Massachusetts.

While this cog did not carry as big a load as some it was a winner in variety. There were 242 boxes, packages or bundles in this B. & M. "box" including varnish, drugs, blankets, frying pans, medicine cabinets, linoleum, iron tanks, wall paper, chairs, velocipedes, musical instruments, pudding preparation, soap, coffee, glassware, hammock stand, oil stove, tinware, wagon, salt, mirror, food chopper, porch seat, rubber hose, sad iron, bed, cobbler outfit, croquet set, and lumber.

This "box" played a small but important part in keeping the big machine running just as each B. & M. man or woman has an important part in this big railroad organization so necessary to New England's prosperity.
